COMPANY SUMMARY

Dolphin Digital Media creates and manages social networking websites for children utilizing fingerprint identification technology, or “Internet safety technology,” creating a secure Internet communications experience that is enjoyable yet “protects” children and provides their parents with a heightened level of comfort. The company’s goal is to become recognized as a major social networking site. The co. will offer downloadable entertainment as well as branded merchandise sales.

The current corporate structure of the company was created in June 2008 through the predecessor company, Logica Holdings, Inc. (OTCBB: LGHL) acquiring Dolphin Digital Media from Dolphin Entertainment, Inc. through a reverse merger, and then changing their name to that of the acquired company. The companies believed that by combining the two entities and their respective technologies and goals they could create a very effective organization. Logica had created Internet security technology with its secure biometric log-in technology and Dolphin Digital Media had been created to exploit Web 2.0 social networking capabilities and trends. Dolphin Digital Media was originally created by William (Bill) O’Dowd, also the founder and President of Dolphin Entertainment, Inc. (www.dolphinentertainment.com).

Dolphin Entertainment, founded in 1996, is a highly successful TV production and distribution co. which produces programming for Nickelodeon including “Zoey 101,” the “Roxy Hunter” mystery movie franchise and Nickelodeon’s TV movies, among others, all sold on a global basis, and is also expanding into film production. Dolphin Digital Media has a ten year licensing agreement with Dolphin Entertainment which will be extremely important to Dolphin Digital’s development. Dolphin Digital will also pursue additional content and licensing agreements and other marketing and partnership opportunities.

On April 9 Dolphin Digital Media launched their suite of Dolphin Secure websites, www.dolphinsecure.com, www.dolphinsecure.com and www.dolphinsecure.com. The sites are subscription-based secure online social networking sites for children and tweens. The co. is planning a major public relations marketing campaign to follow the launches. The company’s goal with these sites are to create popularly accepted and recognized social networking sites designed for a younger demographic that they believe has been ignored by such well-known social networking sites as Facebook and MySpace, and to offer a secure Internet environment in which parents can feel safe and confident. The co. believes that a major opportunity exists in what they feel is an extremely untapped market. This coupled with what they believe is their extremely unique secure Internet technology presents the co. with an opportunity in what is an extremely large and potentially lucrative market.

The Dolphin Secure websites use secure biometric log-in verification and provide parents the ability to monitor and control their children’s Internet usage. The biometric log-in (using biometric fingerprint reading technology) identifies each child that is using a computer, and their Internet usage is restricted to the settings that their parents have chosen. These settings include what sites the child can access (“Safe Surfing” by choosing a site-rating “level”) and with whom the child can communicate (“Secure Chat”).

The Dolphin Secure websites are a subscription-based model, with subscription costs at $44.95/year for “Safe Surfing” and $59.95/year for “Safe Surfing Plus.” Additional anticipated revenue sources are advertising sales, paid content downloads/streaming, online gaming and sweepstakes and promotions as well as white-labeling their biometric validation technology and social networking website concepts.

FINANCIALS

The company changed their name and business focus in mid-2008. Due to the fact that the company’s focus and operations have now significantly changed, year-to-year financial comparisons will not be meaningful and will not be for the next few quarters.

The company’s Dolphin Secure and associated websites were publicly launched on April 9, 2009, and any initial revenue contribution from their new business model will not commence until Q2 (June 30) at the earliest, which will be reported in approximately August.

Q1 RESULTS

In Q1 the company generated no revenues. Their net loss was $(1.28) million and their EPS loss was $(0.03). Their operating cash flow loss was $(587,402).

EXPENSES

For Q1 the company's operating expenses (OpEx) were $1.26 million. A major contribution to Q1 expenses appears to have been a "non-cash" charge of $370,000 for "Equity issued-Services rendered," which was then added back to operating cash flow. Adjusted for that amount the company's actual cash expenses for Q1 were approximately $892,000. The company's Capital Expenditures (CapEx) in Q1 were $60,631, so the company's actual total cash outlay in Q1 was approximately $952,000.

OPERATING CASH FLOW

The company had no major deductions from their operating cash flow in Q1. As previously noted, the major addition to ocf was $370,000 for "Equity issued-Services rendered."

FUNDING

As of March 31 2009, the company had $79,745 in cash and equivalents and approximately $965,837 in total debt, which consisted of "Advances from related parties," (as well as approximately $1.24 million in additional liabilities). Their debt/equity ratio and their debt/total capitalization ratio cannot currently be computed because the company had negative shareholders' equity as of their Q1.

The company has primarily been supporting its business operations through loans and stock sales. The company did not generate any revenues in their Q1 and their Q2 will be the first with a revenue contribution from the company's recently launched Dolphin Secure websites.

UPCOMING CATALYSTS/BENCHMARKS

August	Q2 financial results
November	Q3 financial results
N/A	Execution of the company's business plan and increased public awareness and acceptance of the company.

SUMMARY

Dolphin Digital Media has developed social networking websites for children and young adults, an area the company believes has been substantially overlooked by the major social networking sites currently in existence such as Facebook and MySpace. In addition, the company has a proprietary technology that allows parents to control and monitor their children's Internet usage. The company believes that this combination offers a unique value proposition to parents and their children, and potentially to investors as well.

The company intends to substantially increase their marketing in the near-term in order to increase awareness of the company's websites and offerings. The Chairman and CEO of the company, Bill O'Dowd, has an enviable track record in television production and is highly confident that the company has a product offering that is timely and necessary, and that has great potential to become popularly accepted.

Dolphin Digital Media has a current market capitalization of approximate $26 million. The company is in the midst of a significant business transition and only launched their new children's oriented websites on April 9 (Q2). The company did not generate any revenues in Q1 and their Q2 will be the earliest that the company will generate initial revenues from their new business model.

The next several months should prove to be extremely important for the company on multiple levels. They will be striving to increase market awareness, to expand their product and service offerings, to seek partnerships and licensing opportunities, to generate revenues and to prove the viability of their business plan and vision.

RISKS

- The company as of their Q1 had a cash position of $79,745. No revenues were generated in their Q1. The company changed their business model in mid-2008. The company will only in their Q2 begun generating any initial revenues from their Dolphin Secure websites, launched April 9, at the earliest. The company will have to demonstrate that their new business model and focus is viable. The company has been to a large degree dependent on raising funds through loans and stock sales with a great extent of that funding coming from management of the company. The company intends to pursue additional financings that would probably be dilutive to current shareholders. The company also intends to increase their expenses due to increased marketing activities in support of their recent Dolphin Secure website launch.
- The company as of their Q1 had negative stockholders' equity of $(1.25) million. The company's 10-Q for their Q1 had a "going concern" note concerning the company.
- The company will possibly have to compete with other potentially larger, more well-known and more well-established and well-financed entities.
- The company's new business model of Internet websites for children and young adults is a recently introduced business and entails the various risks inherent in a new business venture.
- There is a pending lawsuit from Mirador Consulting, Inc.
- The company currently trades on the OTCBB (over the counter bulletin board). Trading on the OTCBB is generally a hindrance for both institutional and retail investment and recognition due to a lack of visibility as well as certain regulatory restrictions.
- General equity and business risks including equity market risk, domestic and global economic conditions and geopolitical concerns.
